The Bossy R

Once upon a time letter “R” was very upset and he told all the vowels that “I am your boss from today.”

All the vowels laughed at him, which made letter “R” even more annoyed and he punched vowel “a” and asked now tell which sound will you make when I am with you. Letter “a” out of pain said “aarrrr”. Like in car, star, jar.

Now, he looked at letter “o”. He liked the way “o” looked smiling at him. So bossy “R” decided that “o” and “r” can make their own sound together and they made “or” sound. Like in fork, for, thorn.

Three vowels ( i, e, u) were still left and they were not listening to him.

So, he cast a spell on them and turned them into roosters  and they all three started making “ir, er, and ur” sound, whenever bossy “r” followed them. Like girl, dirt, her, tiger, fur, turn.

Q1 Let's practice words with /r/ sound.
