REPORT ON WORKSHOP

TOPIC: VALUES EDUCATION

The teachers at Summer Fields School participated in a workshop that was based on Value Education. The resource person for the workshop was Dr. Sandeep Kumar, who is a clinical psychologist, a teacher, a counsellor and a mental health professional.

According to Dr. Sandeep values of respect, honesty, compassion, care humanity and responsibility if inculcated in the children would improve the quality of education in the schools. Educators can play an important role in value education by conducting interactive sessions, allowing them to have personal experiences while learning to solve a range of human problems.

Value education would develop in the students a sense of duty towards their parents, families and friends, a sense of honesty and trust, a sense of empathy and generosity for those less fortunate.

Dr. Sandeep shared that values are not connected with reward or punishment as they are a part of our cognitive capabilities. Dr. Sandeep's simplistic approach and real life examples helped the participants to connect to him with ease.
